VILLA TROOPS ARE REPORTED IN FLIGHT

De Facto Government May Restore Burned Buildings at Nuevo Laredo.

[By Associated Press.]
Washington, Nov. 15.—The Carranza agency here today announced the occupation of Naco, Sonora, saying the Villa troops fled toward Villa Verde, with 2,000 Carranza cavalry in pursuit.

Governor Caballero today announced that the de facto Mexican government will arrange for rebuilding the destroyed State and Federal buildings which the Huertistas fired when they evacuated Nuevo Laredo last year. If this is done an unusual building boom will result.

The arrival of the Carranza party is soon expected.

NO NEWS FROM CONFERENCE.

No word had been received when The Eagle went to press this afternoon as to whether or not Rev. Tally had been returned to the Bryan church by the Texas Conference. Mrs. Tally believes, however, that he has, as it was understood if she did not hear from him it was to mean he had been returned. All the people of the city are hoping that an affirmative message will be received.

Churchill Said if Any Operations Were Ever worth Carrying Out, Regardless of the Loss of Life, the Carrying of the Dardanelles Were. Berlin Claims Russians Again Driven Back—An English Earl Was Killed in Battle.

[By Associated Press.]
London, Nov. 15.—The capture of 8,500 Serbians by Bulgarians and Teutons was reported today by Berlin. Seven thousand were reported taken by the Bulgarians with seven cannon. Five cannon and 1,500 prisoners were taken by the Teutons.

Winston Spencer Churchill, who resigned last week from the British Cabinet, today told the House of Commons that the proposal to send an army to the relief of Antwerp originated with Earl Kitchener and the French government. Churchill was outlining the reasons for his resignation and explaining his administration of the admiralty, of which he was formerly first lord.

Mr. Churchill said that if any operations in the history of the world were worth carrying through with utter disregard of life, the Dardanelles operations were.

Mr. Churchill was severely criticised following the Antwerp expedition, which was made by marines, many of whom had to flee to Holland, where they were interned.

NEGRO EDUCATOR CLAIMED BY DEATH

Booker T. Washington Succumbed at Tuskegee From Nervous Breakdown.

[By Associated Press.]
Tuskegee, Ala., Nov. 15.—Booker T. Washington, the noted negro educator and founder of Tuskegee Institute, died of a nervous breakdown early Sunday at his home here, four hours after his arrival from New York.

The negro leader had been in failing health for several months, but his condition became serious only last week while he was in the East. He realized that the end was near, but was determined to make the long trip south to hear out his oft-expressed statement that he had been "born in the South, have lived all my life in the South and expect to die and be buried in the South."

He reached his home Saturday at midnight and died at 4:40 o'clock Sunday morning. Specialists who had examined Washington said he was suffering from nervous breakdown and hardening of the arteries.

He is survived by his widow, three children and four grandchildren. His brother, John H. Washington, is superintendent of industries at Tuskegee Institute.

The funeral will be held at Tuskegee Institute Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Washington was born in slavery near Hale's Ford, Va., in 1857 or 1858. After the emancipation of his race he moved with his family to West Virginia. He was an ambitious boy and saved his money for an education. When he was able to scrape together sufficient funds to pay his stage coach fare to Hampton, Va., he entered General Armstrong's school there and worked his way through the academic course, graduating in 1875. Later he became a teacher in the Hampton Institute, where he remained until 1881, when he organized an industrial school for negroes at Tuskegee. He remained principal of this school up to the time of his death.

The institute started in a rented shanty church and today it owns 3,500 acres of land in Alabama and has nearly 100 buildings valued at half a million dollars.
